FIBUSPAM invites you to travel with us and participate in our Volun-tour trip to Andean Ecuador scheduled from June 22-30, 2017. Trip highlights include spending time serving the local population in need; visiting indigenous communities; experiencing native culture and cuisine; exploring a near-by, active volcano; and taking an excursion to the Ecuadorian Cloud Forest.

This trip is an excellent opportunity for students, adults, retirees, and families alike.

FIBUSPAM supports and operates a full-service clinic, surgical center, and mobile medical unit in Chimborazo Province, Ecuador. Our mission is to empower impoverished Ecuadorian families to live healthy and productive lives by providing access to high-quality health care. Building on local trust and relationships, our ultimate goal is to ensure that each patient has access to the information, resources, and services needed to restore and maintain good health. We provide life-changing services to an average of 1,000 patients a month.

Components of the volunteer program include the supervised assistance of patients at our local clinic and serving families in need within the indigenous community. Examples of volunteer tasks include: assisting in administering patient eye chart exams, interacting with and supporting families during the patient intake process, assisting with facility improvement projects at the clinic site, and providing support with neighboring schools projects. Neither Spanish fluency nor medical experience are required.
